ANOTHER SMASHING DRIVE BEGUN BY BRITISH; HAIG GAINS NORTH OF SCARPEHeavy Fighting Develops, Germans Throwing Fresh Divisions Into Fray.THREE ELEMENTS CONFLICTAnkers Expect Peace With Victory and Annexation of Territory; Radical Socialists Want Government to Seek Peace No Matter What the Cost.By Associated Press.
Another smashing drive by the British on the French front was begun today. General Haig reports an advance on the extended front north of Scarpe.The attack has scored progress.
Heavy fighting has developed, the Germans throwing fresh divisions into the fray.The field of the new push lies within 10 miles from Scarpe to the collity of Lens which the British have ad under their guns on three sides or nearly two weeks.General Haig already had pushed a saw wedge into the German line three miles north of Scarpe and Gavrelle and is fighting today to enlarge this penetration. Every yard he gains there is making the German front between that point and Lens more difficult to hold.A considerable part of the force of the present heavy attack seems to be concentrated at this part of the line. At two other points along this stretch the British are reported to have advanced. Moreover a mile as far as Arras and Oisy at definite possession of those villages apparently was a question for the furious fighting of the day to settle.While the British apparently are giving the Germans more than they can successfully cope with in the northern sector of the battle line, the French are keeping up artillery fire all along the front and are making the line in the line into the Champagne.The French seemingly have completed the conquest of the entire area of the line in the fighting on these fronts. They captured 175 machine guns, 12 machine guns, and 119 trench guns. The prisoners total 29,730.There are many signs that the fighting will shortly be resumed on a more terrific scale than ever before and not least of these omens are the rattle appeals and threats being made by the German leaders and press to avert the advance of a general offensive throughout Germany. All the far-reaching power of the German censorship is unable to suppress the fact that the gravest discontent is seething in the ranks of the German workers and that the government is haunted by the fear that May Day, the great international Socialist holiday, may see an outbreak which will shake the whole imperial fabric.That the general strike planned by the Socialist radicals is not confined to Germany but includes Austria as well, is indicated by the news of the strikes which have come through from Vienna. The Arbeiter Zeitung, organ of the Austrian Socialists, accepts it as granted that a strike will occur throughout the dual monarchy on May 1 and urges the workers to limit the demonstration to that day and return to work May 2.The situation in Germany appears to be that the empire is divided into three great factions with the feeling between the three growing rapidly in bitterness. First comes the old Junker class, which still talks of a victory, ending in annexation and domination. Second is the Socialist majority which is exerting all its influence to force the government into a declaration that it desires neither war nor the land of Germany's poes. The third party is headed by radical Socialists and includes an unknown but apparently considerable body of the workers, sick of the war and disheartened by the diminishing food rations and demanding that peace be obtained at once whatever the cost. The only point in common between the three seems to be to make Chancellor von Bethmann Hol-weg the target of all their shafts.The majority Socialists appear to have the inner track at present. An incident of possible significance has occurred in connection with the visit of Talaat Bey, the Turkish viceroy, to Berlin. After conferences with the chancellor and Foreign Secretary Zimmermann the Turkish premier is quoted in a Berlin dispatch as saying that Turkey was ready to make peace and desired no annexation.After days of disconcerting and falsifying reports from Russia, more reassuring information has been received in regard to conditions there.
A general scraping of generals on the fighting line has taken place and Minister of Justice Kerensky declares that the army is in better shape than ever before and resolute to continue the war.BAVARIA AND AUSTRIA TO CONFER ABOUT PEACE.
LONDON, April 28.—Count Hert-ling, the Premier of Bavaria, says a dispatch from Munich by way of Amsterdam to the Central News, is going to Vienna to confer with the Austro-Hungarian cabinet ministers regarding peace proposals.CONSCRIPTION SURE TO PASSVolunteer Amendment Thrown Out of Army Bill on First Vote in House Today.By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 28.—Administration forces overthrew opponents of the administration elective conscription bill in the House by the first vote today and struck the volunteer amendment from the measure.The vote came on an amendment by Representative Kahn who has led the fight for the administration bill, moving to strike out the volunteer amendment inserted by a majority of the military committee against the provisions of the President and the army war college. It assured the passage of the bill as drawn by the army experts.
The vote to sustain the provision of the administration bill was 279 to 108.The volunteer forces were astounded at the tremendous strength developed by the administration forces.
When the members lined up to pass the bill it looked almost as if the whole House was about to vote for conscription. Chairman Dent of the military committee, heading the volunteer forces, finally gave up counting the votes. Miss Rankin, the Montana member, voted for the volunteer amendment, as did Speaker Clark and Chairman Pugh of the naval committee. Republican Leader Mann voted for conscription. Democratic Leader Clegg, busy with revenue legislation, did not vote.When Representative Pugh of Virginia, presiding, announced the Kahn amendment had carried 279 to 108, there was tremendous applause from the floor and crowded galleries.
In its first vote on the administration army bill today, the Senate adopted a most drastic prohibition amendment, making it unlawful to sell or give any liquor, wine, or beer to officers or men in uniform, or knowingly furnish liquor to any person in the army.CONSCRIPTION SHOULD NOT END VOLUNTEERING, SAYS T. R.CHICAGO, April 28.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in his first speech delivered here today, at a luncheon given by Chicago branch of the Financial Security League, urged that the use of grain for the manufacture of alcoholic drinks be prohibited for the period of the war.
He urged obligatory military training, the expansion and improvement of the navy, and asserted that an expeditionary force should be sent to France at once. The President's conscription, he said, would deny service to many men who wish to volunteer. He remarked that when England adopted conscription, she did not decline the services of volunteers from Canada and Australia.On his progress through the streets from railway station to hotel, he was welcomed by cheering crowds that thronged the sidewalks and jammed the windows. The colorful, standing in a automobile, waved his hat and occasionally shook hands with himself Chinese fashion.FRENCH ADVISE COMPLETE PREPARATION FOR WARWASHINGTON, April 28.—The military section of the French mission, headed by Marshal Joffre, during the conference today with representatives of the War Department, warned the United States that active participation in the war without absolute preparation and previous contact with field operation, would involve enormous losses.
This became known today after Hovelacque, general counselor, speaking for the mission, had outlined a statement to be made tomorrow by General Joffre to the American press.TAFT CONFERS WITH WILSON AND BAKER.WASHINGTON, April 28.—Former President Taft conferred with Secretary Baker today about the military units being trained at France. He went to the White House to discuss Red Cross affairs with President Wilson.CARRANZA DECLARES MEXICO WILL BE NEUTRAL.MEXICO CITY, April 28.—Several of the newspapers today print expressions from General Carranza reiterating his declaration of Mexican neutrality and his assertion that he will do everything possible to maintain that neutrality.GUATEMALA BREAKS OFF WITH GERMANYWASHINGTON, April 28.—Guatemala has broken off diplomatic relations with Germany; handed to the German minister his passports and unseated the exequators of German consuls there.WASHINGTON, April 28.—Officialadvice of the break coming from the American legation in Guatemala City as the reason for his act his desire to stand with the United States in the fight for democracy and the preservation of international law.For some time President Carranza's advisers here have been urging him to take the step and join the family of nations against Prussian autocracy.MOOSE PLAN the lights give a waving effect, will be illuminated on the front of the elaborate program in connection with the flag-raising. The Connellsville Military Band will play, the Overland quartet of Uniontown will sing, Miss least, Kurtz's drum corps will play martial airs.The honor of raising the flag will go to Clark Collins and William Arts, Civil War veterans who helped provide Civil War veterans.S. R. Goldsmith will be chairman and march to the church together.DUNBAR CELEBRATION PROVES BIG SUCCESS.The Italian-American patriotic celebration in Dunbar last night capped any demonstration of the kind ever held there. It was a complete success from start to finish, and the turnout, especially of the Italian people, was certainly the largest the town has seen in some time. In spite of the fact that inclement weather set in and did its best to mar the occasion.

The success of the celebration was due mainly to the efforts of a committee of Italian living in Dunbar and vicinity, headed by Guy Corrado and Albert Visconti. Mr. Corrado and Mr. Visconti are enthusiastic about the rally and are grateful to all who helped carry it out so well.The program was carried out just as announced, with one exception.
Lee Brownfield of Uniontown, scheduled for a speech, was unable to be present because of sickness, and E.
J. McDaniels, another Uniontown man, was given his place on the program, while Rev. D. E. Minard of Dunbar took Mr. McDaniels's place.
Rev. Father J. P. Brennan of Dunbar gave what is declared by many who were present as one of the best speeches they ever heard. Rev.
Father Brennan urged everybody to enlist in some patriotic service, and boasted the Dunbar military company highly.The flag was raised to the top of a 40 foot staff, erected on the Dunbar House, by Miss Helen Corrado, the accompaniment of the playing and singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and a salute of 21 bombs.
Earlier in the evening little Miss Beatrice Brownfield sang "My Country Needs You" and was cheered three times.The music was all good, the But-ternore Military Band, the Royal Italian Band, both of Connellsville, and the Feltz Drum Corps of Dunbar, all gave patriotic selections. Laboratory fireworks were staged. Good times.DR. EDIE CAPRAN IN MEDICAL CORPS.Dr. E. B. Edie this morning received his commission as captain in the Medical Officers' Reserve Corps. Dr.
Edie made application for admission to the corps some time ago.FLAG POLE ERECTED AT B. & O. STATION.The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company has had a steel flag pole erected at the station here and a flag raising may be held by the employees in a few days. There are now five flags floating from the windows of the station, bought by contributions of employees.
The staff was raised by the company.
When the flag will be raised has not been announced.There are about a dozen flags raised over the property of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in this city. The first one to be put up was at the freight house, then one followed by the fire truck men in the yards. After that, every different division of the employees put up a flag staff and bought a flag.MONGOLIA'S GUN THAT SANK U BOAT WAS NAMED ROOSEVELT

S.S. MONGOL AND STERN SHOWING GUN

"Thank heaven some Americans have at last begun to hit," Colonel Theodore Roosevelt said when told that the American steamship Mongolia had sunk a German submarine. The colonel was doubly interested because he is well acquainted with Captain Rice, commander of the Mongolia.After expressing himself in a series of Rooseveltian adjectives the colonel said:
"I am greatly rejoiced and I congratulate the captain, the gunners and all the crew of the Mongolia. I thank heaven, some Americans have at last begun to hit. We have been altogether too long purely at the receiving end of this war Germany has waged on us."Colonel Roosevelt beamed with pleasure when told that the gun crew had dubbed their gun "Theodore Roosevelt.""The gunners had named the guns on board the Mongolia, and the one which got the submarine was called Theodore Roosevelt, so Teddy fired the first gun of the war, after all." So said Captain Rice of the Mongolia, who recalled that he came from Allston, Mass., and that the encounter with the submarine occurred on the date when the Bay State was celebrating the anniversary of the Battle of Lexington.WITH NOTHING TO the physicians are unable to tell, as covery are.Jones is an engineer on the Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. He came to his home on Sycamore street, South Side, at about 1:30 yesterday afternoon, and announced, according to Mrs. Jones's story, that "it was all over." He packed his valise immediately, and, as he left the house, his wife threw herself down the steps.A short time later, with "nothing to live for," the woman swallowed three seven-grain bichloride of mercury tablets. Two doctors were summoned and gave her emergency treatment, removing her at about 2 o'clock to the Cottage State Hospital.According to Mrs. Jones's story, told at the hospital, she and her husband had been quarreling regularly for some time about other women. Upon her upbraiding him on this charge, Jones is said to have declared early in the day that he intended to leave her.When asked if she were not sorry she had taken the poison, Mrs. Jones answered:

"No, I have nothing to live for."BARKS AT OPERATION.Aged Meyersdale Man Declines to Go

THE E. DUNN STORE

April 30th to May 5th The HOME of QUALITY and SERVICE 129 to 133 N. PITTSBURGH ST. CONNELLSVILLE, PA.

In Common With American Mothers, We Join in Observance of National

What is National Baby Week? It's a nation-wide baby welfare campaign initiated by the General Federation of Women's Clubs in co-operation with the United States Children's Bureau, social workers and public-spirited citizens of all classes for a sincere and intensive effort in behalf of the little tots—with such worthy cries as "Save the Kiddies," "Better Babies, Better Homes, Better Cities," "Good fare, Good care, and Good air for Baby."

The DUNN STORE is glad to co-operate and observe "Baby Week," and in this connection we also take occasion to direct attention to our excellent lines of infants' appareling and needfuls of every kind. It is an indisputable fact that the proper clothing has a direct bearing on Baby's health—and we would emphasize that all our lines of infants' wear are productions of makers of recognized leadership in these lines, correctly and properly made in clean, sanitary shops.

Baby Week emphasizes the constructive side of infant care—it addresses not only individual parents, but communities. The figures of the Children's Bureau show that an average of one baby in every seven dies before the end of the first year of life—and the Baby Week movement is aimed to compel attention to this fearful infant waste and, through the pointing out of needless dangers and criminal negligence and mistakes, to "Save the Babies."

Every Baby has an equal chance. Every Baby brought to this store "Baby Week" will be weighed free on accurate scales, and its name entered for a prize of two dollars in merchandise.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

A pie social and mock wedding held last evening in the first Baptist Church by the Barbers class, composed of young men of the Sunday School, was a grand success. The mock wedding which was repeated by special request, preceded the social and during the entire performance there was an uproar of laughter. The cast was as follows: A. H. Boyer, "the bride," William Percy, "the bridegroom," Frank Lyon, "the priest of the family," Smith Grimm, "the minister," Clayton, "the pastor," "our hired girl," and Ralph Burkett, "our country cousin." As the bridal procession entered the auditorium the bridegroom from Lohennin was sung by Miss Emma Jean Rhodes, with Miss Grace Workman presiding at the piano. Chorus Bailey sang two vocal solos, accompanied by Mrs. B. N. Stahl. The wedding was followed by the social at which many delicious pies were sold by A. E. Boyer, the auctioneer. The largest amount paid for a pie was $1.10. The price of admission for the ladies was a pie and on presenting it they were given a number and a similar number was placed with the pie. The young man purchasing the pie shared it with the person holding the number corresponding with his. Coffee was served. The young men realized quite a nice sum for their treasury, and every member of the class deserves great credit for the successful manner in which the entertainment was carried out. Following the performance a large American flag was thrown on a white screen, and the audience stood and sang "America."

Following a rehearsal of the choir of the First Presbyterian Church last evening in the church, Miss Martha Eaton, who has resigned as soprano soloist in the choir, was tendered a most delightful surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Dainty refreshments were served and a very pleasant time was had. Addresses were made by Rev. J. L. Proudfoot, R. C. Beerbower, T. J. Moore and John Davis, choir leader. Miss Eaton became a member of the First Presbyterian church choir, which she was 16 years old and later resigned to become director of and soloist in the First Presbyterian Church choir, Canton, Ohio, filling that position for about 18 months. A year ago last November she returned as soloist in the First Presbyterian Church choir here and tomorrow will make her last appearance, prior to taking charge of her choir work in Pittsburgh. Miss Eaton, accompanied by Mrs. Robert S. Morton, went to Pittsburgh this morning for her first choir rehearsal. ### HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—lay no good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

MASONS BANQUET HELD AT DAWSON

Twentieth Anniversary of James Cochran Lodge, Institution Celebrated.

James Cochran Lodge, No. 614, F. & A. M., of Dawson celebrated the 20th anniversary of the institution of the lodge with a banquet and dance in Cochran Memorial hall last night. The affair proved to be one of the most enjoyable ever held in Dawson and considerable credit reflects upon the committee in charge.

Before the banquet the guests were received in the lodge room downstairs, a quartet sang a number of selections and Kiferle's orchestra played.

The banquet was served at prettily decorated tables, on which the national colors were used exclusively. Flags, small and large, artistically arranged, constituted the decorations. The orchestra played during the banquet and the guests united in singing "The Star Spangled Banner," "America," and familiar songs. The banquet was delightful in every way. Among those present from Connellsville were Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Ashe, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. May, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Koser, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Goldsmith, Dr. and Mrs. R. S. ## Fountain Service

When you order a sundae at Collins' you get what you ask for. Our clerks are impressed with the importance of serving you what you order. They don't make mistakes very often.

If you order ice cream in any form, we never fail to serve a glass of cold water with it. If the cream gives you that queer feeling in your temple, you want a drink.

Our tables are always clean. The clerk who takes your order sees to that.

It's these things—little things, perhaps, that constitute good fountain service.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, April 28.—A man who stated that he was a representative of the May-Stern company of Pittsburg, recently got away with a horse and buggy belonging to William Ferguson, the liveryman. Several days ago a man about 25 years old, about five feet, nine inches high and dressed in a dark blue suit, with a light soft hat and tan shoes, presented himself at the Ferguson livery and asked if he could hire a horse and buggy, stating that he wished to deliver catalogues through the country for May-Stern company of Pittsburg.

The horse the man got was a bay with a white mark on its face, weighed about 1,100 pounds. The buggy was a wide-tracked vehicle with several holes torn in the back curtain. It is the opinion of Mr. Ferguson that the horse has been in the country some place with people who know nothing of whom it belongs to. Either this or the man is a professional horse thief and has made away with the horse and sold it.

PITTSBURG COAL IN WEST VIRGINIA SOLD AT NEW PRICE

A Tract of Thompson Near Morgantown Brings $800 Per Acre.

$1,000 PER ACRE IS PAID

For Tract in Cass District Close to Greene County Line and Adjoining Other Holdings of Thompson; Several Sales in Washington Co. at $800

A new and higher range of values has been established for coal of the Pittsburgh seam in Monongalia county, West Virginia, by some transactions which have been concluded recently. The first of these transactions was closed ten days or more ago when a group of Cleveland capitalists paid $1,000 per acre for a tract owned by the Ridgeway heirs in the Cass district, Monongalia county. This coal is in close proximity to the Greene county line and immediately adjoins some coal owned by J. V. Thompson, which was appraised a year ago at $400 per acre.

This sale fixes the highest price paid for coal in this section. In the Battle district a sale was made some months ago at $400 per acre, which at that time was the highest price known to have been paid.

The Ridgeway heirs, only a year ago, purchased the surface and all the coal underlying the tract they just sold, at $380 an acre. That purchase included the Sewickley and Pittsburgh seams of coal. A tract of 40 acres of the Sewickley seam in the same neighborhood was sold to Cleveland people at $250 an acre and 240 acres of the same seam, further back from the railroad was sold at $100.

A second deal was closed on Saturday when 215 acres of coal at Vandyke, a few miles north of Morgantown, was sold to the Norton Coal company of Morgantown. This tract was held jointly by J. V. Thompson, the heirs of the late George L. Hibbs and John F. Hogsett. The consideration for the tract was $172,000, or at the rate of $800 per acre.

Within the past ten days a number of deals, aggregating 4,000 or 5,000 acres, have been made in different sections of Washington county at prices ranging from $300 to $330 per acre. The purchases in all cases have been made for purpose of development, largely through new mining operations.

WHO POLACK IS

Director-General of Rutherford Shows Has Wide Experience.

Harry R. Polack! This name, possibly, means nothing to the average reader, but to those familiar with the outdoor exhibition it conjures up the thought of the "what-has-been."

Harry Polack, naught but a boy, born and raised at Braddock, this state, has some sort of a misunderstanding within the bosom of his family and ran away. Securing, by various means, transportation to Philadelphia he successfully applied to the Union News company. After several years of faithful service Harry had amassed a few hundred dollars which a chance acquaintance thought to get. It would appear this "chance acquaintance" knew where there was a show stranded and one which could be "moved" for just the amount young Polack had. The result was Harry Polack became a manager and so successful and shrewd proved this "angel" that in five weeks he had bought out the interest of the other and was sole owner.

Today this same Harry Polack is known as one of the best out-door showmen in America. Not only does he watch his own interests but those of every one connected with him. As is his practice in every city, Mr. Polack will give all his attention to the enterprises constituting his greater shows during their stay here, at Seventh and Crawford street, during the week of April 30, for the benefit of the New Have Hose company.

A CONTINENT OF MARVELS.

Some of South America's "Greatest In the World."

Bring on the superlatives! We write of South America, the continent where are the world's greatest mountain ranges, densest forests and largest rivers.

Just for instance, the Amazon river system has over 50,000 miles of navigable "waterway," enough to tie two loops around our planet. It can be navigated for 2,500 miles by ocean steamer, a greater distance than from New York to Panama.

The Rio de la Plana is 120 miles wide at its mouth. And notwithstanding all Colonel Roosevelt's discoveries South America still has the largest unexplored area of any continent.

Almost everybody knows that Brazil is larger than Europe or the continental United States, but the size of the

INTERURBAN TRACTION SECURITIES

RANK HIGH AMONG SAFE INVESTMENTS

The far-sighted are keenly alive just now to two financial facts. First, the possibilities of good investments; second, the need of care in the selection of those offered. "Safety First" should be, and no doubt is, the controlling factor in deciding where and how to invest your hundred, or your thousand, or your ten thousand dollars.

The JOHNSTOWN AND SOMERSET RAILWAY COMPANY offers an exceptionally good opportunity for shrewd, careful investors who wish to place their money where it will not only be safe and sure, but increase rapidly in value in the very near future.

The history of any Interurban Traction Company that was wisely projected, and properly handled, proves them to be among the best and safest investment offered the public. An investigation of the absolute facts, and the big possibilities of the JOHNSTOWN AND SOMERSET RAILWAY COMPANY with its 36 miles of road running from Johnstown to Rockwood via Somerset, through rapidly developing coal fields, growing towns and boroughs, now devoid of transportation facilities and crying for relief, such an investigation must prove to the most skeptical that the securities offered by this company are the equal of any investment securities ever offered in the state.

Salvage

The Rosebud Was Known as the Ishmaelite, and
the Name Fitted Her

Copyright by the Century Company.

She Was Known as the Ishmaelite, and the Name Fitted Her.

It had a large crew, abnormally large for a ship of her size, and a reputation for the best attributes of the sea. The Rosebud, this innocent name was painted on her stern and on her six legs, for she was known among the fishing fleet as the Ishmaelite, and the name fitted her. She usually left behind her such bitter memories of her visit as placed the best part of the bottom of her net of marks.

One, too, three small schooners had come home with empty holds and empty hearts, the appearance while anchored in the fog of a bottle of dories.

It was by a dory, men, who overboarded and hooked all hands in cabin or forecabin and then removed the carcasses of fish to their own craft, hidden in the fog. Shortly after this the Ishmaelite disposed of a large catch in Baltimore, and the piece was believed of her, but never proved.

Her luck at finding things was remarkable. Drifting dories, spars, guns and trawls were caught by her crew, as though they were the main part of the haul. They were sold in port or returned to their owners when paid for. In the early part of her career she had saved a whistling buoy into Boston and claimed salvage of the government, showing her husband to prove that she had picked it up far at sea. The salvage was paid, but as her reputation spread, there were those who declared that she herself had sent the buoy ashore.

With her third husband she had produced a hole in the side of a light-house, and she had sailed away without answering questions, and her description was written on the fly leaves of several revenue cutters' logbooks, while Sunday newspapers in the large cities began a series of special articles about the mysterious schooner rigged pirate of the Atlantic fishing fleet.

Her trips had become necessary longer, and there was but two weeks' supply of food in the market. The New England coast was an enemy's country, but in the crowded harbor of New York was a chance to be mobbed at anchor long enough to secure the stores she needed. So Cape Cod was doubled on the way to New York, but the break offshore, which developed into a case that blew her to sea.

Third husband, restless fellows were these men who owned the Rosebud and ran her on shares. They were eighteen in number, and they typified the maritime nations of the world. Americans, French, German, Portuguese, Scandinavian and Russian were among them. The crew was a West India negro, and the captain, a white man, and the mate, a black man, their nearest approach to a captain, a Portlano Yankee.

The captain's navigation had its limits, however, and this time defied them. He could find his latitude by meridian observation and his longitude by morning sights and chronometer time. His dead reckoning was true, and he was a West India negro, and the captain, a white man, and the mate, a black man, their nearest approach to a captain, a Portlano Yankee.

As a result the vessel was finally caught in a still heavier blow without warning and disaster. It was a small, fast, and a fast-moving vessel, and the captain, a white man, and the mate, a black man, their nearest approach to a captain, a Portlano Yankee.

the other part of the signal barges. Elisha, the navigator, went below and returned with a couple of books, which he consulted.

"Her number," he said. "She's the Elisha, of London." The huge thing came down to be replaced by others. "Rudder carried away," he read and then looked with the glasses. "Rudder seems all right. Must mean his steering gear. Why don't they rig up a substitute of a dory over the stern?"

"Martin," said Elisha to the cook, "what's the matter with our bell? a ding for her?"

"Don't care if we kin get his line an' he knows how to rig a bell," he answered. "We can show him if it comes to it. What you say, boys? If we steer her into port we're entitled to salvage. She's helpless; we're not, for we've got a jury rig under the bows. Elisha! What's he sayin' now?" Other dories what he said on the steamer, which waited for the longshore. Then followed others which said that the chronometer was broken.

"Better'n ever," exclaimed Elisha excitedly. "Can't investigate. Our chronometer's all right. We never needed it, and don't know but it's a big help in a salvage claim. What ye say? Can't we get our hemp cable to him with a dory?"

Why not? A dory was thrown over, and Elisha and Amos pulled to the steamer. "Golly rattled," they reported on their return. "Tiller ropes parted, an' not a man aboard can put a long splice in a wire rope, an' o' course, we said we couldn't. They'll take our line, an' we're to chalk up the position an' the course to New York. Clear case o' salvage. We furnish everything an' sacrifice our jury material to aid 'em. There's anywhere from one to two hundred thousand—bull an' cargo—that we save. We'll get no less than a third, maybe more."

They knotted four or five dory reds together, coiled the long length of rope in the dory, and the end of their water laid cable from the anchor and waited until the following steamer had drifted far enough to seaward to come within the steering arc of a craft with no canvas; then they cut away the wreck, crowded forward, all hands spreading coats to the breeze, and when the schooner had paid off steered her down with the wind on the quarter until almost near enough to haul the steamer, where they rounded it to.

Soon the steamer's crew had the end of the cable on board. The bridge, two heavy ropes leading from the after which out the opposite quarter clocks to the end of the cable, was quickly rigged by the steamer's crew.

With a warning shot of the whistle they went ahead, and the long towline swept the sea tops, tautened, strained and creaked on the windlass bitts and settled down to its work, while the schooner dropped into her wake, was dragged westward at a ten knot rate.

"This is bully," said Elisha cheerfully. "Now I'll chalk out the position an' give her the course—magnificent, to make sure."

He did so, and they held up in full view of the steamer's bridge a large blackboard showing in six inch letters the formula: "Lat. 41-20. Lon. 68-10. Mag. Co. W. half S."

A foot of the whistle thanked them, and they watched the steamer, which had been leading a little to the south of the course, pausingly swing her head up to it by hanging the schooner to the starboard leg of the bridge. But she did not stop at west-half-south, and when she pointed unmistakably as high as northwest, still dragging her tow by the starboard bridge, a light broke on them.

"She's gone on her way with us," said Elisha. "So, not who can't. She's bound for London," he added. "Elisha, fable, fable."

They waved their hats to port and shouted in chorus at the steamer. They were answered by caps doinked to starboard from the bridge and outstretched arms which pointed across the Atlantic ocean, while the course changed slowly northward.

"The dorys, come to the channel," groaned Elisha wildly. "An' I'm supposed to give the longitude every now. Why, boys, they'll claim they rescued us, an' like as not the English coast'll allow them salvage on our little tub."

"Let go this towline! Let 'em go to Jones!" they shouted angrily, and some started forward, but were stopped by the cook. His voice was a little higher pitched than usual; otherwise he was the steadiest man there.

"We'll hang right on to our brand-new cable, men," he said. "It's ours, not theirs. 'Course we kin turn her air if ag'in an' be wuss off too. We can't find the forecast now. But dat ain't de best way, John," he called to the Englishman of the crew, "how many men do you country tramp steamers carry?"

John computed mentally, then muttered: "Two mates, six ash cats (engineers and firemen), two bunksies, two quartermasters, watchman, deckhands—oh, 'bout sixteen or seventeen, Martin."

"Bora, lo's man de win'lass. We'll leave in an our cable, an' if we kin get close enough to catch aboard we'll rescue it out wid dat English capten, who can't do his job roun' alone wid out stentail little daisy schooners."

"Tight!" they yelled. "Man the windlass. We'll show the line juice thief who's doin' this."

"Amos," said Martin to the ex-entertainer, "you try an' member all you for got 'bout engines in case anything happens to de crew o' dat steamer, an' Elisha, you want to keep good track of where we go, so's you kin find you way back."

"I'll get the chronometer on deck now. I can take sights alone."

They took the cable to the windlass barrel and began to heave. It was hard work, equal to heaving an anchor against a strong head wind and ten knot tide-way. While the first shift labored the rest watched the approach of a small tug towing a couple of dories, which seemed to have a dory out of the sea ahead of them. When the steamer was nearly upon her she let go her towline and ranged up alongside, while a man leaning out of the pilot house gesticulated to the steamer's bridge and finally shook his fist. Then the tug dropped back abreast of the schooner. She was a dingy little boat, the biggest and brightest of her kind, being the name board on her pilot house, which spelled in large gilt letters the appellation "J. C. Hawkins."

"Sey," yelled her captain from his door. "I'm blown out w' my barges, short o' grub an' water. Can you gi' me some? That line juice sucker ahead won't."

"Can you tow us to New York?" asked Elisha, who had brought up the chronometer and placed it on the house ready to take morning sights for his longitude if the sun should appear.

"No, not unless I sacrifice the barges an' lose my contract w' the city. They're garbage scoops, an' I haven't power enough to hook on to another. Just got coal enough to rot in."

"An' what do you call this—a garbage scoop?" answered Elisha, in a friendly way. "We've got no grub or water to spare. We're got troubles of our own."

"Man alive, we're thirsty here! Give us a breaker o' water. Throw it overboard. I'll get it."

"No; told you we have none to spare, an' we're belin' yanked out to sea."

"Well, gi' me a bottleful. That won't hurt you."

"Not shore off. Git out o' this. We're not in the Samaritan business."

A forecast malediction came from the tug captain and a whirling monkey wrench from the hand of the engineer, who had listened from the engine room door. It struck Elisha's chronometer and knocked it off the house, box and all, into the sea. The tug stemmed back to her score.

"An' what do you call this—a garbage scoop?"

"That lesson our chance just so much," growled Elisha as he joined the rest. "Now we can't do all we agreed to."

"Keep dead reckoning," Elisha said. "Don't goot 'bout for us. An', say, can you take sights by a watch, just for a bluff, to show in de logbook?"

"Might," Elisha said. "Good enough, though, for logbook testimony. That's what I'll do."

Luck by luck they gathered in their cable and coiled it down, unmoved by the protesting toots of the steamer's whistle. When half of it lay on the deck the steamer slowed down, while her crew worked at their end of the rope; then she went ahead, the schooner dropped back to nearly the original distance, and they saw a long stretch of new manila hawser leading out, from the bridge and knotted to their cable.

They cursed and shook their fists, but pumped manfully on the windlass and by midnight had brought the last over their bows by means of a "messenger" and were heaving on the new hawser.

"Went on our case just that much more," growled Elisha. "We were to furnish the towline."

"Leave away, my boys!" said Martin. "Deys' only go many ropes aboard her, an' when we get 'em all we've got dat boat an' dem men."

So they worked their craft across the western ocean. Knot after knot, hawser after hawser, came over the bows and lumbered the deck.

JUST GOT OVER A COLD

Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often lead to chronic kidney troubles. Read what a Connellsville woman says:

"Mrs. Lizzie Knight, 401 Francis Ave., says: 'For years I was almost crippled with my back and couldn't find a remedy that would help me. The pains across my loins seemed to burn and I rapidly lost strength and was tired all the time. I could hardly get around the house to do my work. I had dizzy spells and headaches and my sight blurred. Colds settled on my kidneys. I was simply miserable with kidney trouble, but I found a cure when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. Two boxes made me well and I have been entirely free from kidney trouble since.'"

PARSNIPS.

Pine words better no parsnips, but fine soil makes parsnips grow well. Says the garden lesson from the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, which is aiding The Courier in the campaign for more gardens.

Parsnips require the whole season. Planted early in the spring, even as late as September they seem to have made a disappointing growth. However, the autumn rains mature them rapidly, and they are ready for use along in November. From then until spring the parsnips can be taken from the garden. The hard freezing of winter only improves their flavor.

Be sure to plant only fresh seed, for parsnips seed that is two years old is apt to have lost its life. Have the soil deeply prepared, for if it is hard or heavy the roots will become branched. Sow a half ounce of seed to 100 feet of row, making rows 18 inches apart. The two best varieties to plant are Hollow Crown and Salsford.

Parsnip seed is slow to sprout, and therefore it is well to mix quick-growing radish seed or cabbage seed in with the parsnip seed to break the crust of the ground. Often the success of the crop will depend upon breaking the soil with a rake after the planting, especially if rains form a dirt crust.

It is important that the thinning (to one plant every two or three inches) be done while the plants are yet small, because it is hard to pull them out when they are large.

While they may be left in the ground all winter, in northern climates it is better to harvest them late in the fall and store them in garden pits covered with earth. Pulling or spading them out is almost impossible. The best gathering method is to dig trenches on both sides of the rows and then pull out the plants.

Roots not used by spring should be pulled anyhow, because in the second season the old plants become weedylike. Wild parsnips are supposed to be poisonous.

PRESENT FOR U. L. GORDY

Senior Class of High School Gives Retiring Superintendent Gold Knife and Chain; Mr. Gordy Too Overcome to Express Thanks Except in a Note.

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, April 28.— Some time on Thursday night the Junior colors were hoisted from the flag pole at the high school building and the rope cut so that no one could take them down. The seniors came to school on Friday morning and were indignant. An effort was made several times to climb the pole and when this failed the juniors of the high school and third ward buildings were called upon to help and finally succeeded in taking down the banner. As a punishment one of the Junior boys was compelled to put up a new rope on the pole.

Honor For Professor Gordy.
The Senior class of the high school yesterday afternoon presented Prof.
U. L. Gordy, who will leave Tuesday for Chambersburg, with a gold knife and chain. Eugene Coldsmith, president of the Senior class, made the presentation address and Professor Gordy was so taken by surprise that he was unable to thank the boys and girls but wrote his thanks and sent it to the class to be read.

The Junior class passed a resolution expressing their regret at seeing Professor Gordy leave, their hope of success in his new undertaking and their appreciation of his kindly interest in them. This was signed by 15 boys and 24 girls.

Measles Reported.
The board of health held their regular monthly meeting last evening in the borough building and only two cases of measles were reported to the board in the last month. Both of the persons who had the measles were adults.
